Going Through Changes

By Morpheus

This is a bit of a strange one. I had originally planned on it being rather short, but somehow it grew just a little bigger than I had intended. Still, I hope you enjoy it. Anyone who wishes to archive this story may do so, under the provisions that they notify me of doing so and that there is no charge for it.

SRU: Going Through Some Changes part 1 of 3

Sitting around my dorm room was getting old real fast. Lately I'd been feeling a mixture of stress and boredom, both broken only by my frequent visits with my girlfriend Penny and my best bud Brandon. It was my first year in college and the sudden change of workload was really wearing me down, though I always managed to get my work done on time. I'm a bit of a loner in college, and I knew I was missing something. Like those big college parties you hear about all the time. Nope, haven't been to one. Sure there are a few of them on campus, but usually only with the frats and I wasn't in one.

My name is Adam Quinn and I'm almost 19 years old. I have dirty brown hair and an an inch short of 6 feet. Though I'm no hunk, I'm certainly not ugly either. So for college life has been all right, but I had to admit that it wasn't quite what I expected. The best thing that's happened so far was that I had met Penny in my algebra class and we hit it right off. She's about 5 foot 7, has dark blonde hair and a lively personality.

Looking at my watch, I knew that Penny wouldn't be done with her last class for at least another hour and a half. Sure I had a few exams I could study for, but I was kind of burnt out on studying for the moment. And Brandon was probably in the same predicament either, leaving me bored and without any worthwhile distractions. Sighing, I figured that maybe I needed some fresh air. "Maybe the stuff?" I mused to myself, taking one final glance at my history book before taking off.

I walked around the mall without having any particular destination in mind, mostly just being there to kill some time. Walking past the book store, I almost went in but figured that I'd had enough books in my classes that I didn't really need any more at the moment. Instead I just kept walking, stopping several minutes later when I saw a store that I'd never been in before.

What caught my attention about the store was that unlike the other stores in the mall, this one actually had a front. And a real door. Not something you see every day in a mall. Since the place had caught my attention I risked it over a little more closely, seeing that the name was Charlie's Magic Emporium. Charlie's? Is he the owner? Interesting just what they sell. Probably some sort of D&D type stuff I guessed. Or maybe some of those Magic the Gathering cards. I knew a couple guys that played that game though I never had. Neither of those ideas really appealed to me, but I was curious and the only way to find out for sure was to actually go in.

A bell above the door tinkled as I went in though I didn't pay it too much attention. Instead I glanced around, wondering just what kind of shop this was. There didn't seem to be any kind of order to the junk covering all the shelves. Then an old guy behind the counter, dressed up in some kind of wizard's robe asks me "Can I help you?"

"No thanks" I told him, wondering if I should bother to even look around some more.

"Are you sure Adam?" he asked again, making me suddenly freeze. How the hell did he know my name? The old guy chuckled, saying "Before you ask, I'm a wizard. It facilitates dealing with my customers to know who they are before they need."

Snorting, I said "Yeah, sure" and noticed that he looked rather disappointed. Still, he did know my name and that was an interesting trick. "How did you really know my name?" I asked.

He just shook his head and said "I already told you Adam. I am a wizard. And you are here because you need something that I can provide."

I don't really know why, but something about him made me start to take him more seriously. "And what do I need?" I asked him curiously.

The old guy smiled and calmly replied "A few changes in your life would be nice wouldn't they?" I nodded, not really knowing what changes he meant. "I have something that you might be interested in."

Moments later, he set a small bundle of cloth onto the counter and started to unwrap the cloth. When he was finished, sitting in the middle of the white rag was a fairly plain looking ring that looked like it was made of gold. And next to it was some kind of necklace or amulet that also looked sort of like gold. Some kind of metal, I guessed.

"And what are these?" I asked feeling genuine curiosity. The ring looked rather plain, but the necklace looked somewhat interesting. The whole thing seemed to have a snake wrapped all around the outside, as if looping around several times, and with its own tail in its mouth. Definitely weird.

Chuckling, the old guy picked up the amulet and held them in his hands for a second before setting them back on the counter. "These," he said finally, "are very special. The wearer of the ring is subject to change, while the necklace controls the changes." When the old guy saw that I didn't understand, he explained that whoever had the necklace could change the body of whomever wore the ring. It certainly did sound interesting at least. He finally asked me if I didn't think that what you could do with Penny wearing the ring "a good change?" I grinned back thinking about it in anticipation. If he actually worked, it could certainly be interesting.

However I still wasn't sure that it was real and told the salesman so. He just sighed and said "So many skeptics." Shaking his head slightly, he told me "If it isn't really magic, you can keep it for a full refund. Deal?"

"All right" I agreed, wiping the ring and necklace skeptically. "But how much do they cost?"

"Ah!" he said grinning broadly, "The subject of money. Together they come to sixty dollars." I groaned loudly knowing that this was going to drain me. Fortunately he promised me that I'd get my money back if it didn't work. If they didn't though, I knew I was going to feel real stupid anyway.

After handing over the money, the old guy gave me the ring and necklace, wrapped up again in the cloth and stuffed into a plastic bag.

"I hope you enjoy your purchase Adam." he told me. Thanking him, I turned and left, eager to get home and show what I got to Penny.

Later that night in Penny's apartment (her parents didn't want her living in the dorms), I told her what had happened to me at the mall. She laughed, saying "Come on. Magic? You can't be serious."

"Sure" I told her with a grin. "You never know until you try it. I laid out the ring adding "Wanna try it on?" She chuckled saying "You first."

I shrugged and grinned back at her, sliding the ring on my own finger.

A strange tingling sensation ran through me for a second, catching me by surprise. "Whoa" I said, staring at the ring in amazement. Maybe this was real after all. "Here goes nothing" I said holding the necklace in my hand, thinking about the changes I wanted to make.

Almost immediately I felt the changes starting to happen, and I looked at Penny grinning as she gasped in surprise. "What do you think?" I asked, flexing my now larger muscles.

"My God" she muttered, staring at me in awe. "I can't believe it. It worked."

"Told ya so" I teased her, not admitting that I'd had serious doubts but it myself until just then. But with the now looking almost like a body builder, I certainly couldn't deny that it was real. I only wished that my clothes had grown with me. I could feel them straining over my larger, and getting stronger and stronger. In just moments I found myself in my clothes once again feeling very tight and confined.

Still grinning, I handed Penny the necklace and started to pull the ring from my finger. Gasping, I struggled with it, finding that it wouldn't budge. It had slid onto my finger with absolutely no problem, but now it was refusing to come off. "Damn" I swore, pulling harder and harder. It still wouldn't budge.

Penny chuckled, holding the necklace tightly with a look of concentration on her face. I didn't like that at all. Suddenly I could feel myself changing again and gasped in surprise. Quickly I put the ring back on my finger, and the changes stopped.

"Maybe this will help" she suggested, going to her kitchen and coming back with her dish soap. After trying that, and just about everything else we could think of to loosen it, I finally had to give up or I'd miss my class. We ran by again later that evening, and I managed to get the ring off with a combination of soap and water. Whew!

Knowing that I'd have to stop by my dorm room for my books before class, I told Penny goodbye and that I'd see her later. She just grinned back mischievously and I suddenly noticed that she had the necklace in her hand. As soon as I felt the shifting sensation in my groin, I quickly pulled down my pants, envying as I saw my cock. It was no longer the 10 inch monster it had been, but was instead only an inch long. "I look like a fuckin kid!" I exclaimed, obviously not very happy about this.

Penny giggled, then said "I just wanted to make sure you didn't get to use that monster on anyone else!"

"Aw come on" I begged, but to no effect as she just giggled again and slipped the necklace over her head, giving me a smug look as she did so.

"Besides" she continued with a grin, "Now you have to come back here after your classes. Bye-bye." she waved at me. Groaning, I left her apartment, telling myself that it would only be for the day and that I'd keep the necklace to myself over I got it back. Still I couldn't help feeling sorry for my little buddy.

My first class of the day went by pretty quickly, even though I had a hard time concentrating on the teachers lecture, for fairly obvious reasons. After class I hurried to my history class which was next, impatiently waiting for the day to get over so that I could get back to Penny and get back to my normal body. Finally, the day was over.

A couple minutes after I sat down in my seat, my room mate Brandon sat down next to me, grinning broadly. "God lucky last night huh?" I smiled faintly and he started laughing. "I knew it when you didn't get back to the room last night. Penny again right?" I refused to answer that one. I may like to look at other girls, but I do have my loyalty. Unlike some people.

Brandon was the same as he always was, a complete pervert. I mostly ignored. For the next half hour Brandon and I got along great. He's about 6 foot 1 and considers himself a player. A couple times he's tried hooking me up with some girls, and I have to admit that they were rather good looking, but I just couldn't do that to Penny. One thing I do have to admit about Brandon though is that he's definitely not boring to be around.

About halfway through class, Brandon started looking at his watch, then finally whispered to me "Sorry man, I've got to run. Can I get a look at your notes later on?" When I nodded I agreed, trying to pay attention to the teacher rather than Brandon who gave me a quick thumbs up and hurried off to whatever it was he was doing.

Just a little while later, towards the end of my class, a slightly stretching feeling seemed to form around my chest, though I didn't really notice it at first. Absently I started to scratch at my chest, stopping suddenly as my chest swelled and jiggly under my shirt. Penny was definitely wrong. Suddenly becoming aware that something was happening to me, I stared at my chest, noticing that it pushed out into two slight bumps, each with my nipples poking through my shirt and looking larger than normal. "What the hell?" I asked aloud, only to get a "shhhh" from someone next to me.

Looking around quickly to make sure that no one was watching me, I once again glanced at my chest to make sure that I wasn't imagining things. What the hell had just happened to me? As soon as I asked myself this, the answer came to me. It was the medallion so that I can get rid of these, I gestured at my chest in disgust.

"Oh, I'm sorry," Penny said trying to look contrite and failing, "but I left the medallion in my apartment." I choked at that, beginning to get annoyed with her. Penny just grinned back and I had a sudden suspicion that maybe she didn't leave it at her apartment after all. Not wanting to draw attention by arguing about it in class, I let the subject drop for the moment.

Penny was waiting for me when I got out of class, and I could tell that she was trying to look sorry for what she'd done. She stopped suddenly though, catching sight of a gorgeous girl. She was part of one of the sororities, and I remember that she had just showed up a few weeks earlier. Though I still didn't know her name, I definitely recognized her face, and her assets. But then again, every boy on campus did. After staring at her for a moment, I sighed, knowing that I probably wasn't going to get her attention with my new body. Penny noticed my sigh and frowned.

Suddenly I felt my chest beginning to swell again and grabbed my new breasts in shock. Though my shirt hid them, I could tell that they were larger than before, perhaps up to a B cup. Damn. Looking around quickly, I realized that Penny must have been somewhere around there and saw me looking at that girl. This may have proved my suspicion about her keeping the medallion right, but at the moment I would have preferred being wrong.

Sighing, I shook my head and tried once again to remove the ring from my finger. It was in vain though. Continuing on to my next class, I really hoped that no one would notice anything odd. I would have died of embarrassment if anybody had seen my chest swelling and shrinking like that. Luckily no one seemed to notice. Or at least if they did they were too polite to say anything. Penny giggled but got it off. I didn't know what else to do.

That class seemed to be the longest class of my life. Finally though the class ended and I went back to my room, relieved to be alone at last. As soon as I was safely inside, I tore off my shirts, finally getting a clear look at my breasts. Cupping them in my hands I looked at the mirror. I looked just like a beautiful coed. I had long blonde hair, blue eyes and a knockout figure. I only absently noticed that there were a few similarities to the girl I'd been looking at earlier that day. However, the strangest thing was that I still had my 10 inch cock.

"Now you've even stranger looking" Penny exclaimed, looking rather impressed.

"Change me back" I demanded, not liking the way I felt. The 50s were bad enough, but having most of the rest of my body looking like a girls was too much. At least I still had my dick though.

Penny stared at me for a few moments, obviously deeply impressed. Then blushing slightly, she put a hand on one of my tits and started rubbing my nipple. Almost against my will I could feel both my nipples suddenly hardening, as well as my cock. I stared down to see just how much my nipples stuck out, confused by the strange sensations I was getting from my chest. "Feels good doesn't it?" Penny quietly asked me. I moaned slightly in response.

"Please stop," I asked Penny, not really sure if it wanted her too. It was strange. Still playing with my breasts, Penny looked embarrassed, then she hesitantly said "I've never really been into other girls" she stopped for a second, then continued "Actually I've never been into anyone. Not even guys. I've just been waiting for the right one to find."

Since my most important part was still all male, I tried to ignore the rest of my body and started playing with Penny's nipples in return. Once she was obviously enjoying it as much as I was, we made our way to her bedroom so that I could try out my changed body.

SRU: Going Through Some Changes part 2 of 3

That was definitely the most unusual lovemaking experience I'd ever had. I thought to myself once we'd finished up. The intense erotic feelings coming from my chest were almost like another couple erections.

My boobs (apparently a C cup) shook and quivered a bit while I rode Penny, although I have to admit that they felt kind of good that way as well.

Once we'd finished up, I laid next to penny for awhile, my tits pushing into her. "That was kind of strange" she admitted, "though kind of nice as well." I agreed with her there. Sighing, she said "I wonder if this means I'm like bi or something." I chuckled slightly at that.

"Well, I think I'm about ready to get back to normal." I told Penny, crawling out of bed and going to the living room where she'd left the necklace. Just as I was walking into the living room, a loud knock started coming from Penny's front door. "Shit." I wondered aloud, momentarily distracted from the necklace in the realization that I realized I'd need to get out of sight.

"I'll get it" Penny announced, hurrying in with her robe wrapped around her. Before it had a chance to move though, the front door swung wide open and someone stepped in. My heart jumped in panic before I recognized him as Brandon.

"What the hell are you doing here?" I asked, suddenly feeling humiliated as I remembered not only my current condition, but my nakedness as well.

Brandon stared at me, looking at Penny for a moment, then back at me again. "Adam?" he asked in surprise, "Is that you? My God." he said, still staring at me in amazement. "This is so fucking unbelievable."

"Yeah!" I said self consciously, looking around to find something to cover myself with. "But why are you here?"

Brandon shrugged, grinning slightly. "I just had to come over and see that medallion in action after what you described."

"You told him!?" Penny accused me glaringly.

Backing up a little I told her "You were the one who gave me this, remember? It's not like I could have had them from my income."

While Penny and I were glaring at each other, Brandon had come the rest of the way inside, closing the door behind him. "This must be the medallion" he suddenly said, making me and Penny turn and see him standing there with his hands. "Cool"

"I'll take that" I told Brandon, holding out my hands. He just grinned at me and looked me up and down, making me feel embarrassed by the attention. "God Adam, you really look just like a chick. All but that I mean" he said gesturing towards my crotch, a slight embarrassed look on his face though he quickly covered it up.

"Just give it back" I demanded impatiently, "I want to get back to normal."

"Here," Brandon said, suddenly grinning, "Let me." Then a look of concentration formed on his face and I winced as I felt the changes starting.

I could feel it in my crotch almost immediately and quickly grabbed hold of my cock, only to feel it getting smaller in my hands. Frantically I struggled to hold onto it, but within moments it had gotten too small and was pulling into my body like my testicles had already done. Seconds later, my hands felt only a smooth flatness, which had a moist slit in it. A vagina.

"Holy Shit!" Penny said, announcing just what I was thinking.

"Give me that!" I demanded of Brandon, reaching for the medallion.

"I'm just having some fun" he said with a grin, holding it back out of my reach. "Besides, you said you wanted to be normal again so I made you normal. A normal woman." Brandon snickered at that, though neither me or Penny did. At least not at first.

After a few moments though Penny started chuckling too, making me feel betrayed. When I glared at her, she apologized. "I'm sorry, but it is kind of funny."

"Easy for you to say" I said snorting.

"You do make a good looking girl though" Brandon told me, still grinning. "Where did you say you got this stuff at?" he asked me, looking down at the medallion with a suitably impressed expression. I didn't bother answering.

Penny stared at me for a few moments, obviously deeply impressed. Then blushing slightly, she put a hand on one of my tits and started rubbing my nipple. Almost against my will I could feel both my nipples suddenly hardening, as well as my cock. I stared down to see just how much my nipples stuck out, confused by the strange sensations I was getting from my chest. "Feels good doesn't it?" Penny quietly asked me. I moaned slightly in response.

"Please stop," I asked Penny, not really sure if it wanted her too. It was strange. Still playing with my breasts, Penny looked embarrassed, then she hesitantly said "I've never really been into other girls" she stopped for a second, then continued "Actually I've never been into anyone. Not even guys. I've just been waiting for the right one to find."

Since my most important part was still all male, I tried to ignore the rest of my body and started playing with Penny's nipples in return. Once she was obviously enjoying it as much as I was, we made our way to her bedroom so that I could try out my changed body.